Claim your Free Upgrade!

To celebrate the one year anniversary of the launch of our anti-virus and anti-spam service (AVAS), we are offering everyone who would like to take advantage of the AVAS service a free upgrade to the new e-mail system.

With your AVAS upgrade you'll also receive webmail access per e-mailbox and the option to choose between POP3 and IMAP delivery.

Normally, you would pay a £10 upgrade fee, along with the pro-rated AVAS fee up until your next renewal date, but until the end of April the £10 upgrade fee won't apply.

To take advantage of this offer, please contact sales@netenergy.net.

AVAS Statistics - March 2005

For more information on AVAS, or to upgrade your e-mail account, please contact sales@netenergy.net.

Server and Bandwidth Upgrades

As part of our continuous programme of the improvement of our services, we are pleased to announce upgrades for both frontline servers and our overall network.

During this month we are upgrading seven of our servers with further upgrades planned in the near future. Following the upgrades, customers should notice a performance increase in displaying Web pages and returning database queries (where applicable), especially during peak periods.

We have also taken delivery of our largest ever bandwidth upgrade of 260% this month. Whilst the additional bandwidth is now live and available for use, it has predominately been installed to enable us to launch some exciting new services over the next couple of months.

4 Million UK Domain Names

In their March newsletter, Nominet announced that the number of UK domain names has crossed the four million mark again.

The mark has previously been reached, however with the introduction of the Positive Renewal system (speeding up the process of returning unwanted domain names to the available pool), the number of active UK domain names can be monitored more accurately.

Through our domain name registration service, Net Energy Internet is pleased to contribute to the total with our own record number of domain names registered in 2005.
