▶ Thawte Site Seal Design Changes

Continuing the theme of new designs, secure certificate authority, Thawte, introduced a new look for their site seals on the 4th of September 2005.

The new site seals (below) will replace the blue versions. If you use a site seal on your web site, the changes will have taken place automatically.

New site seals:

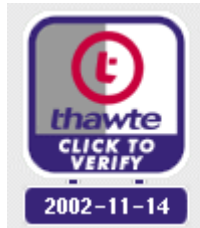

The image dimensions are the same as the old site seals, so there's no need to change the design or layout of your web site to incorporate the new design.

Thawte have also advised that customers using the early versions of the site seal (examples below) will need to change their site seal code to incorporate the new version of the site seal. Thawte will continue to support the early versions until the 1st of November 2005.
